
POWERS & SONS AWARDED PHASE IV OF ROBERT TAYLOR HOMES REDEVELOPMENT PROJECT

The Brinshore & Michaels Development Companies have awarded phase IV of the Robert Taylor redevelopment project to Powers & Sons Construction Company, Inc. This combined $36,150,000 projects consists of the environmental remediation of “unsuitable soils and the construction of 170 units of affordable housing on the City of Chicago’s near south side. The buildings will be of masonry construction inclusive of energy efficient exterior, and interior components along with energy star efficient appliances. Congratulations to the team for putting a winning proposal that met the clients financial needs.

